Cayce:

Winding up the construction of this project causes me to have mixed emotions. Of course I am glad to be completing a successful project, but it is a little saddening to bring such good teamwork to an end.

I just want you to know what we think of your company and the staff that worked with us on this project. I have felt that the situation was always well under control and on schedule with Gary and John. They handled the work and subs brilliantly!

Your choice of personnel for this job was fortunate for me and the Club. John McMenis is one of the almost extinct breed of perfectionist craftsmen. We are aware that most of the money that has apparently saved for the Owner is due to him being such a good "working" foreman. He was cooperative and interested in one thing - to make this project a high quality job, delivered on time. This is appreciated by all connected with the project.

All of the members of your firm should be proud of this project. Your subs' work was exceptionally good for a rush job also. My thanks to you, Gary and John for leaving me with such a good feeling. It is a job well done.

Sincerely,

Robert E. Middleton
